2 (2.00 pm)

3 LADY SMITH: Good afternoon, and welcome back to our set of 4 closing submission hearings at the end of Phase 8 of our 5 case study evidence.

6 This afternoon we move on to a group of providers, 7 the first of whom I think I am right in saying is going 8 to be CrossReach, is that right, Mr MacAulay?

9 MR MACAULAY: That is the case.

10 LADY SMITH: Is there anything else I need to think of 11 before we start this afternoon?

12 MR MACAULAY: I don't think so.

13 Mr Brodie appears for CrossReach.

14 LADY SMITH: Yes, thank you.

15 Mr Brodie, when you are ready.

16 Closing submissions by Mr Brodie on behalf of CrossReach

17 MR BRODIE: Good afternoon and thank you, my Lady.

18 Yes, I appear on behalf of CrossReach, which is the 19 Church of Scotland's social care arm, and of course we 20 appeared in Chapter 5 of Phase 8 previously.

21 The church, CrossReach, wishes to take this 22 opportunity to say a few closing words. In some ways it 23 doesn't say much of substance in addition to what 24 already was said, but there are two areas that have 25 arisen since the Inquiry was actually hearing from

1 CrossReach, and I will deal with them.

2 By way of introduction, the church has been involved
3 in the provision of residential care for children since 4 1868, when the state established the system of approved 5 schools and then List D schools, under the Social Work 6 (Scotland) Act 1968. The church was then asked to 7 provide and operate residential accommodation,
8 schooling, and training for children who had had contact 9 with the criminal justice system, or in other ways were 10 in need of care and protection.

11 Langlands Park for Girls was opened in 1962 and 12 closed in 1986.

13 Geilsland was opened for boys in 1964 and closed in 14 2015.

15 Ballikinrain for boys was opened in 1968 and closed 16 in 2021.

17 These establishments were jointly funded by local 18 authorities and the Scottish Education Department until 19 1986, thereafter funding became the responsibility of 20 the relevant local authority.

21 These three establishments were examined by the 22 Inquiry in Chapter 5, and that took place between 23 22 April 2024 and 10 May 2024. The Chief Executive 24 Officer of CrossReach, Viv Dickenson, and the Director
25 of Human Resources and Organisational Development,

1 Claire Hay, attended the Inquiry between them on each of 2 these days and listened with care.

3 My Lady, Viv Dickenson is here again today.

4 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

5 MR BRODIE: The church accepts the witness evidence which 6 has been submitted to the Inquiry, and acknowledges that 7 on the facts spoken to by these witnesses, there were 8 some grievous instances of abuse by staff of the 9 schools, that physical violence was common and that 10 educational standards and expectations were too often 11 low.

12 In its closing submissions at the end of Chapter 5, 13 the church reiterated its heartfelt apology to all who 14 had suffered abuse when in its care and on this occasion
15 specifically to the pupils of Ballikinrain, Geilsland, 16 Langlands Park, who experienced harm. CrossReach and 17 the church wishes to make that apology once again.

18 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

19 MR BRODIE: One of the two new matters of substance since 20 CrossReach appeared relates to the evidence from the 21 witness KMJ from June of last year, and this evidence 22 came following the closure of Chapter 5.

23 LADY SMITH: Yes.

24 MR BRODIE: KMJ was the headteacher at Geilsland for 25 18 years. KMJ referred to the fact that Geilsland took

1 young people aged between 15 and 18, and KMJ highlighted 2 an inherent problem in the Scottish system. That 3 problem was the cutoff at age 16, whereby many on 4 attaining 16 years of age found themselves either
5 without support or in jail. This remains a problem
6 today.

7 KMJ also noted difficulties in the recruitment --

8 LADY SMITH: Yes, and there is an anomaly there in that we, 9 and of course it is very recently, we have reached the 10 stage the law has now move to treating all under 18 as 11 children for what used to be appearance in court, now 12 will go straight to the children's hearing, disposals 13 will be children's hearing right up to 18, but this is 14 still a difficulty for the long-term provision.

15 MR BRODIE: Yes, my Lady.

16 KMJ also noted difficulties in the recruitment of 17 staff, which was challenging in the past and still is 18 today. There was later more emphasis on qualifications, 19 and some staff at Geillsland gained HNC qualifications
20 during their service. This started as of the mid 1990s
21 and onwards, when there was investment by the Scottish 22 Government in the development of training for 23 residential care workers as a result of the Skinner 24 report and following the development of the Centre for 25 Residential Child Care.

1 LADY SMITH: Just to pick up another point there, and you
2 rightly said more emphasis on qualifications emerged 3 later on. Do CrossReach regard qualifications as 4 important for staff?

5 MR BRODIE: They do, they do. I am not in a position to 6 give a quick synopsis at the moment of the present
7 position taken on qualifications, but the staff all 8 require to hold qualifications and it is regarded as 9 fundamental.

10 LADY SMITH: Yes.

11 MR BRODIE: It is also regarded as part of the overall 12 safeguarding.

13 LADY SMITH: Yes, thank you. That's very helpful, 14 Mr Brodie.

15 MR BRODIE: Training was available at Geilsland and whilst 16 there, KMJ completed the certificate in social services
17 management and leadership offered by Robert Gordon 18 University. KMJ noted that not all staff were 19 interested in obtaining qualifications. However, 20 certain training, like therapeutic crisis intervention 21 (TCI) and other skills were compulsory, and this was 22 done in-house.

23 In relation to a lack of education at Geilsland, by 24 which I mean provision of education for residents, KMJ 25 said that education was not deemed unimportant, and that

1 staff gave as much attention to education as to other 2 things. Many young people did get SVQs and other
3 qualifications related to their work in the school. It 4 was not that Geilsland did not attempt to provide 5 education. Criticisms in the inspection reports in 6 respect of the provision of education could be because 7 KMJ's background was in social work as opposed to 8 education.

9 While that may be part of what is a very complex 10 picture in terms of educating the young people who were 11 sent to Geilsland, it is not an excuse for the failures 12 which were identified in those inspection reports, and 13 CrossReach's approach to education is now very 14 different.

15 As I hope is clear in what I just was developing 16 from KMJ, excuses are not being offered. It is 17 an attempt in KMJ's evidence to provide explanations as 18 to deficits, but also where criticisms appeared in the 19 inspection reports, why those criticisms may have been 20 justified.

21 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

22 MR BRODIE: KMJ said that 'punishment' was not really a term
23 which was used at Geilsland during his time.

24 'Consequences' was the description that was given to the 25 response to poor behaviour. The focus being on the

1 consequences of that behaviour, and trying to get boys 2 to understand that it may have been such behaviour which 3 led to their placement in the school.

4 On the issue of bullying, KMJ acknowledged there 5 were examples of bullying by boy on boy, and that 6 sometimes it was difficult to differentiate between 7 abuse, bullying and other behaviour which could be seen 8 as a part of growing up.

9 Staff at Geilsland tried to stay on top of the 10 bullying, but they did not eradicate it. In drawing 11 attention to this, the church in no way seeks to deflect
12 attention from or minimise what did happen at Geilsland, 13 or its responsibility to protect the young people in its 14 care, but simply to highlight one of the many challenges
15 faced by Geilsland's staff on a daily basis.

16 The question of continued support. The church is 17 committed to the ongoing support of those individuals 18 who were abused in its care. Since providing their 19 evidence to the Inquiry, a number of witnesses have made 20 contact with Viv Dickenson and Claire Hay at CrossReach.
21 Both Viv Dickenson and Mrs Hay have spoken to these 22 witnesses, and have sought to assist and support them
23 where they are able, making bespoke arrangements to meet 24 any requests as appropriate. CrossReach would encourage 25 anyone who has suffered abuse in Langlands Park,

1 Ballikinrain or Geilsland to make contact with them.

2 Survivors will be listened to and provided with support.

3 LADY SMITH: In using the word 'bespoke', Mr Brodie, what is 4 it that you are referring to?

5 MR BRODIE: I did not interrogate that, perhaps

6 sufficiently. My understanding is this: when using the 7 word 'bespoke' the support that has been offered has

8 been in respect of the particular person making contact

9 and their particular experiences, and what appears to be

10 perhaps support that will best help them. In the 11 closing submissions previously, an example I think was 12 given that it had been possible to find some homework

13 documents that a particular resident -- their own

14 documents.

15 LADY SMITH: Right.

16 MR BRODIE: And that, although it might have seemed 17 relatively small by way of any form of help or support,

18 had meant a lot to the particular person.

19 LADY SMITH: Because they were personal to that individual?

20 MR BRODIE: Because they were personal to them, that's

22 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

23 MR BRODIE: Back to my Lady's question, which was what is 24 meant by 'bespoke', that is an example of attempts to 25 provide help that is particular to the person, as

1 opposed to simply adopting, as it were, a standardised
2 approach.

3 LADY SMITH: Maybe giving them an experience of a type of 4 care, if that's the right word, that they never had when 5 they were in care as children?

6 MR BRODIE: There is a danger in my interpretation of 7 someone else's interpretation of the particular person, 8 but that was exactly the impression that was formed by 9 Viv Dickenson and Claire Hay in conversations they have 10 had.

11 LADY SMITH: So people aren't going to be met with 12 a response along the lines of, 'But we don't do that, we 13 can't provide that'.

14 MR BRODIE: Attempts are being made to avoid that.

15 LADY SMITH: Good.

16 MR BRODIE: Sadly, time and time again, although attempts 17 have been made to find, for example, personal 18 belongings --

19 LADY SMITH: That's different.

20 MR BRODIE: Yes.

21 LADY SMITH: If at least some effort is made. Thank you.

22 MR BRODIE: Still continuing with aspects of continued
23 support, the church is a member of Scotland's Redress 24 Scheme. It understands that the Redress Scheme is 25 separate to the Inquiry. However, being part of Redress

1 Scotland is one way that the church has chosen to accept 2 the part it played in a system where children in care 3 suffered abuse at the hands of those set up to protect 4 them and demonstrates its, the church's, ongoing
5 commitment to the national endeavour to seek to redress 6 the wrongs done in the past to children abused while in 7 care.

8 CrossReach supports an active [REDACTED] group for 9 former residents of Ballikinrain, which provides 10 a mechanism for former pupils to exchange memories, good
11 and bad, and to share experiences. The [REDACTED] group
12 has seen an increase in activity since the CrossReach
13 establishments were examined by the Inquiry in or around 14 April/May of last year. CrossReach would encourage any 15 former residents of Ballikinrain to use the [REDACTED] 16 group as a means of making contact and as an avenue to 17 obtaining support if so required.

18 LADY SMITH: In what you say there, and I can see that you 19 are not suggesting that there is a definite causal 20 relationship, but does it seem possible that the 21 CrossReach enquiries that were made at hearings have 22 increased awareness and have brought people to the 23 [REDACTED] group to make contact?

24 MR BRODIE: There is a danger in that I overstate the 25 success of efforts that have been made, but there has

1 been an increase in those going to the [REDACTED] group, 2 or interacting with the [REDACTED] group. I think I would 3 be going too far to provide an explanation as to what 4 that might be. But there is certainly an association
5 between greater activity and greater use of the [REDACTED] 6 group.

7 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

8 MR BRODIE: At its General Assembly in May 2024 the church 9 approved a policy to provide guidance on responding to 10 the needs of survivors of abuse. My Lady may remember 11 that Viv Dickenson was giving evidence prior to last 12 year's General Assembly.

13 LADY SMITH: Yes, I do.

14 MR BRODIE: Reference in the course of that was made to what 15 would appear within the Church of Scotland's relevant 16 committees' reports for the Assembly and the report by 17 the convener of the relevant committee included in his 18 oral report to the Assembly reference to the work of the 19 Inquiry and of CrossReach's participation in Phase 8.

20 LADY SMITH: Yes, thank you.

21 MR BRODIE: The policy that I am referring to, as proved in 22 the Assembly of last year, aims to ensure that survivors 23 are heard and supported, that a sensitive, timely and 24 effective response is made which minimises or prevents 25 further trauma to the victim, that all disclosures of

1 abuse are treated seriously, that survivors and all
2 church workers know what procedures should be followed
3 if someone discloses abuse and that a healthy 4 safeguarding culture is fostered in which people feel 5 safe to disclose abuse and know that they will be heard 6 with respect, openness and transparency.

7 Safeguarding within the church is overseen by 8 a standing committee of the General Assembly, staffed by 9 suitably qualified professionals and operating within 10 a church law framework, which requires all advice from 11 such staff, when framed as an instruction, to be 12 followed by everyone involved in work with vulnerable 13 groups. This committee has recently reviewed 14 CrossReach's safeguarding arrangements to ensure that 15 they remain relevant and up to date, thus giving 16 CrossReach the best chance possible of protecting the 17 children and adults it supports.

18 The fact that abuse in residential schools had been 19 subject to investigation by the Inquiry and apology made 20 was reported to the General Assembly in May 2024. It 21 has prompted further reflection on how best to ensure 22 that the most appropriate governance arrangements for 23 the work of CrossReach are in place now and into the 24 future.

25 The evidence of the applicants, whether this was

1 first hand or given via statements that were read in to 2 evidence, revealed serious and significant instances of 3 abuse. That this abuse took place is a source of huge 4 regret and shame, and has prompted further reflection on 5 the part of CrossReach.

6 Towards the end of 2023, CrossReach produced 7 a publication entitled 'CrossReach Residential Care and 8 Education Services: A Relational Model of Care to 9 Support Children and Young People'. It aims to outline 10 CrossReach's philosophy, model of care and education for 11 pupils of its one remaining school, who live in one of 12 its supported houses, as well as those educated in the 13 school, but living elsewhere. Since 2024, this 14 publication has been embedded through supervision and 15 training, and remains a live document to prompt further 16 reflection and improvement.

17 The publication highlights that creating 18 a therapeutic environment populated with safe and 19 trusting relationships enables children and young people 20 to recover and heal from harm caused by past trauma and 21 negative life experiences. The ethos is based on 22 providing stable adult role models, who can provide, 23 nurture and attune to the needs of children and young 24 people and who will use co-regulation to calm and soothe 25 them when they are distressed.

1 The publication addresses some of the criticisms of 2 CrossReach identified by this Inquiry. These 3 include: quality of education and long-term
4 opportunities, training and development, promoting 5 a learning culture, listening to children and responding 6 well, keeping people safe, and understanding trauma.

7 Importantly, one other thing this publication does 8 is highlight that we cannot be complacent, and that 9 there is always more that can be done to give children
10 the very best experience in care. The Care Inspectorate 11 have commended the publication and asked CrossReach to 12 share this model with other care providers. CrossReach 13 would be happy to provide a copy of this publication to 14 the Inquiry, if so requested.

15 LADY SMITH: May I say, 'Yes, please'.

16 MR BRODIE: That will be acted on, my Lady.

17 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

18 MR BRODIE: CrossReach will continue to reflect on the 19 moving evidence which has been heard during this phase 20 of the Inquiry, and recognises that there has been 21 systemic failure, both within the wider context of the 22 residential school system and within its own provision.

23 This has had a long-term and profound effect on the 24 health and well-being of thousands of children and young 25 people. CrossReach will continue to learn from this in

1 order to provide the very best of support to those 2 entrusted to its care. This is illustrated by the 3 development of its own publication, which 4 care-experienced children and young people helped to 5 develop. CrossReach believes that there is always more 6 that can be done to help children who are in the care
7 system now and support the principles of The Promise, 8 which seeks to drive that improvement forward.

9 My Lady, CrossReach looks forward to the report on 10 Phase 8 of the Inquiry, which will help it to further 11 review and strengthen its own policies as necessary, and 12 ends by repeating its apology to each and every child 13 who suffered abuse whilst in its care.

14 LADY SMITH: Thank you very much, Mr Brodie.

15 If I could turn to St Andrews and Edinburgh's
16 Archdiocese, I think that's Mr Blair.

17 Closing submissions by Mr David Blair on behalf of the 18 Archdiocese of St Andrews & Edinburgh

19 MR DAVID BLAIR: Good afternoon, my Lady, I appear on behalf 20 of the Archdiocese of St Andrews & Edinburgh. These 21 submissions are directed specifically at the evidence 22 heard in respect of Chapter 2 and Chapter 10 of this 23 phase of the Inquiry.

24 As the Inquiry will be aware, the archdiocese 25 originally sought leave to appear in this phase of the

1 Inquiry on account of its connection with 2 St Joseph's School, Tranent, and listened to the 3 evidence which ran in January of last year, and also 4 Chapter 10 in respect of St John Bosco's, Aberdour.

5 The archdiocese received notice in February 2024 6 that it was to be invited to listen to and respond to 7 any evidence led in respect of St John Bosco's, and the 8 archdiocese participated in the hearings that took place
9 in August 2024.

10 The archdiocese delivered a response to evidence at 11 the conclusion of both chapters of evidence and its 12 intention today is to use the time to address your 13 Ladyship on what the archdiocese has taken from the 14 evidence, now that Phase 8 has concluded, and, indeed, 15 to bring your Ladyship an update on the archdiocese's 16 safeguarding procedures --

17 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

18 MR DAVID BLAIR: -- and engagement with subject access 19 requests from applicants of the historic abuse Redress 20 Scheme.

21 The archdiocese remains grateful for the opportunity 22 to appear in this case study and commends the bravery of 23 those applicants who have come forward to the Inquiry to 24 tell the stories, either in person or through witness
25 statements. The archdiocese would continue to emphasise

1 that it is deeply sorry to hear of the abuse suffered by 2 pupils at St Joseph's and St John Bosco's. The 3 archdiocese has sought to assist the Inquiry in its 4 investigations throughout Phase 8 and will continue to 5 cooperate in any way that is appropriate in future 6 phases.

7 At the outset, my Lady, the archdiocese wishes to 8 make its position clear. It is apparent from the 9 evidence that many children suffered abuse at 10 St Joseph's and St John Bosco's schools. The 11 archdiocese was not involved in the day-to-day staffing 12 of those institutions, but it had a role in the 13 appointment of members of the boards of managers of both 14 institutions.

15 It is apparent from the evidence that those boards
16 did not provide the oversight and supervision envisaged 17 by the Approved School Rules. That no doubt contributed 18 to the experiences of those victims who have given 19 evidence to this Inquiry. The archdiocese acknowledges 20 its contribution to that systemic failure, and wishes to 21 apologise to those who suffered under that system.

22 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

23 MR DAVID BLAIR: My Lady, the written submission which has 24 been produced provides a short summary of the 25 archdiocese's position, but that submission has been

1 made before and I don't think we need to go over it this 2 afternoon.

3 LADY SMITH: That's fine, thank you.

4 MR DAVID BLAIR: Turning firstly to the issues arising in 5 relation to St Joseph's School.

6 The archdiocese delivered a response to evidence on 7 2 February 2024 in respect of St Joseph's. St Joseph's 8 was originally established as an orphanage and school in 9 1812. In 1888, the archdiocese acquired the building 10 for use as a school for Catholic boys. In 1914, the 11 De La Salle Brothers were invited to take over the 12 running of the school by the then archbishop. In 1932, 13 it became what was then known as an approved school. In 14 1971, it became a List D school. In 1989, the school
15 was taken over by the Social Work Department of Lothian
16 Regional Council, and the archdiocese remained 17 proprietor of the school building until it was sold in 18 2015.

19 The arrangements for and responsibilities in 20 relation to the school were governed by the 1914 21 agreement with the De La Salle Order, in conjunction 22 with the legislative and statutory instruments in 23 respect of approved schools.

24 The school was taken over by Lothian Regional 25 Council in 1989 and it is understood that the Brothers

1 of the order were the main providers of care of the 2 children at St Joseph's School, Tranent and the school
3 was governed by a board of managers.

4 In canon law once a religious order, such as the 5 De La Salle Brothers, become established, it is removed 6 from the supervision of the local diocese and is placed 7 under the direct authority and supervision of the Holy 8 See in Rome. The De La Salle Brothers therefore were 9 not under the supervision of the archdiocese, but the 10 archdiocese did have a role in relation to the school.
11 The archdiocese gave approval to headteachers who were 12 nominated and appointed by the De La Salle Order. From 13 time to time, some members of the school's board of 14 managers were priests of the archdiocese, the 15 appointment of teachers and staff who were Brothers, on 16 the other hand, rested with the De La Salle Order.

17 As has been submitted, the archdiocese invited the 18 De La Salle Brothers to take over the day-to-day care of 19 the pupils in 1914 and believed that they had fulfilled 20 these duties faithfully. The archdiocese first became 21 aware of allegations of abuse at the school in about 22 1993.

23 LADY SMITH: Just pausing there, and going back to your 24 comment that having invited the De La Salle Brothers to 25 take over day-to-day care of the pupils in 1914, it was

1 believed they fulfilled their duties faithfully. What 2 was the basis for that belief?

3 MR DAVID BLAIR: I suspect, my Lady, the point was that 4 there was very little done to check in on that issue, 5 and that's an acknowledged failure as part of the 6 system.

7 LADY SMITH: Did it amount, really, to anything more than 8 that, having handed that responsibility over to the 9 Order, it was assumed they would discharge their duties 10 properly and faithfully?

11 MR DAVID BLAIR: I think, my Lady, it was an assumption.

12 LADY SMITH: Why? How can you make that assumption?

13 MR DAVID BLAIR: I think all I can say, my Lady, is that was 14 the assumption that was made at the time, because they 15 weren't made aware of issues. It is not to say that 16 that was an appropriate system, and certainly there was 17 no supervision by the board of managers and there 18 doesn't seem to have been much, or anything, by way of 19 communication between the board of managers and the 20 archdiocese.

21 LADY SMITH: It perhaps highlights the risks of making 22 assumptions based on really nothing more than who the 23 people said they were, who the people were, the label 24 that was on them.

25 MR DAVID BLAIR: Well, quite, my Lady.

1 LADY SMITH: Yes, thank you.

2 MR DAVID BLAIR: Addressing the evidence that was heard in 3 relation to St Joseph's, the representatives of the 4 archdiocese listened carefully to the evidence which was 5 given. Whilst the Inquiry has the archdiocese's 6 response, it wishes to reiterate that the evidence it 7 heard from the applicants provided an insight into the 8 dreadful extent, nature and impact of the physical, 9 sexual and emotional abuse suffered by pupils at 10 St Joseph's, for which the De La Salle Brothers had 11 a day-to-day responsibility.

12 The archdiocese has noted the evidence of several 13 witnesses who spoke to the control exercised by the 14 Order, for example in moving Brothers between schools.
15 It is entirely a matter for the Inquiry, but it appears 16 to the archdiocese that the evidence of the Inquiry, 17 that the Inquiry has heard during this phase, supports 18 the proposition that the day-to-day responsibility for 19 care lay with the De La Salle Order.

20 In terms of the evidence that was led, the 21 archdiocese has identified themes which may be relevant, 22 my Lady.

23 The archdiocese listened to the points raised in 24 evidence regarding the absence of a system or strategy
25 to ensure inspection and oversight by the school's board

1 of managers. The archdiocese has reflected carefully on 2 the point raised by your Ladyship in February last year.
3 The point was raised that generally in terms of List D 4 schools, the board of managers had the responsibility to 5 manage the school in the interests of the welfare, 6 development and rehabilitation of the children, and the 7 head was responsible to the managers to see that that 8 was how the school was run.

9 The archdiocese accepts that the evidence goes to 10 show there was not a sufficient system in place to 11 ensure the welfare of the children was being protected.
12 The archdiocese acknowledges that the board of managers 13 played a role in that systemic failure, and the debt to 14 the archdiocese had a role in the appointment of the 15 members of the board of management.

16 As we have heard in evidence, this was to the 17 detriment of the pupils' experience at the school. The 18 archdiocese acknowledges its contribution to that 19 systemic failure, and again, my Lady, it wishes to 20 apologise to those who suffered under that system.

22 MR DAVID BLAIR: Turning, my Lady, to St John Bosco's.

23 A closing statement was delivered on 30 August. In 24 terms of the undertaking given at the time of the 25 closing statement, a significant review of documents

1 within the Scottish Catholic Archives has been 2 undertaken to assist the Inquiry with a fuller 3 understanding of the role of the archdiocese in 4 St John Bosco's.

5 My Lady, that review has given rise to a developing 6 understanding by the archdiocese of its role in relation 7 to St John Bosco. At the time of the previous closing 8 submission, the archdiocese did not hold evidence to 9 suggest to it that it had much involvement with the 10 school following the sale of the property to the 11 Salesians, submissions were made in respect of that.
12 The archdiocese had leave to appear in this phase in 13 relation to St Joseph's only. It received notification 14 in February that it was invited to listen to the 15 evidence in relation to St John Bosco's, but this 16 difference in involvement meant that the archdiocese was 17 not aware of documents provided to the Inquiry by other 18 parties relating to St John Bosco's, or the cipher key.

19 At the time that the interim submission was 20 delivered, the archdiocese had not seen or heard 21 evidence which suggested that the archdiocese was 22 responsible for appointing individuals to the board of 23 managers. It didn't hold records to that effect. The 24 understanding of those currently in position at the 25 archdiocese was that its involvement with

1 St John Bosco's was much more limited than in respect of 2 St Joseph's, and there was an exchange where we 3 discussed that at the last hearing, my Lady.

4 LADY SMITH: Yes.

5 MR DAVID BLAIR: It was submitted that there may be 6 a distinction between its involvement with 7 St John Bosco's compared with St Joseph's, in that the 8 archdiocese had a direct role in St Joseph's, as 9 a result of the 1914 agreement that was in place with 10 the De La Salle Order. No sight had been seen of any 11 similar such document in respect of St John Bosco's.
12 Further, St John Bosco had not remained under the 13 ownership of the archdiocese, as St Joseph's had.

14 In hindsight, my Lady, the archdiocese's submission
15 was based largely on a lack of evidence of involvement, 16 rather than positive evidence of non-involvement.

17 Since the interim submissions, the archdiocese
18 undertook to and has reviewed the Scottish Catholic 19 Archives and produced documents to the Inquiry with 20 an inventory which gives a clearer idea of the 21 archdiocese's involvement. The archdiocese accepts that 22 it consented, or the archbishop consented to the 23 Salesians setting up a List D school in 1964 and to 24 creating a board of managers. It is also noted that the 25 archbishop asked to be consulted in respect of the 1 membership of the board of managers.

2 My Lady, perhaps of particular relevance is the 3 Salesians have now confirmed that they hold documents, 4 which have been provided to the Inquiry in terms of 5 board minutes and others, which confirmed that clergy of 6 the archdiocese sat on the board of managers. The 7 archdiocese hasn't seen those documents, but if this 8 information is before the Inquiry, it has no basis to 9 question that position.

10 As such, the archdiocese accepts the role it played 11 in respect of the board of managers was greater than 12 previously understood. It doesn't seek to dispute that 13 it, along with the Salesians and the local authority, 14 was involved in appointing managers to the board, and 15 again, more will be said in respect of the admitted 16 systemic failings in terms of the board of managers, my 17 Lady.

18 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

19 MR DAVID BLAIR: Having made those observations, my Lady, 20 the written submission which has been lodged sets out in 21 some detail the nature of the documents which the 22 archdiocese has provided by way of inventory from the 23 Scottish Catholic Archives. They remain relatively 24 scant, but are what has been discovered. I don't intend 25 to go over each of them at this time, but your Ladyship

1 has in writing the nature of the documents and what has 2 been produced.

3 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

4 MR DAVID BLAIR: The Inquiry will see that even within the 5 Scottish Catholic Archives, the extent tends to be 6 documents at the beginning of the Salesians' involvement 7 and towards the end, but there is not much in terms of 8 documents regularly throughout that period, or anything 9 of that nature.

10 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

11 MR DAVID BLAIR: What the documents do show, my Lady, is 12 that the archdiocese did not have responsibility for the 13 running nor the education or provision of care for the 14 boys within the school. The archdiocese understands 15 that the arrangements for and responsibilities lay with 16 the Salesians and the school was operated by the board 17 of managers, but it does acknowledge the involvement of 18 the archdiocese in the appointment to and membership of 19 the board of managers and that was certainly greater 20 than previously understood.

21 The archbishop and other members of the archdiocese 22 would also from time to time be invited to the school to 23 attend religious ceremonies.

24 The archdiocese has no records in relation to the 25 day-to-day running or care of the children. It holds no

1 minutes of meetings of the boards of managers, no 2 documents in respect of the members of the board of 3 managers, or appointments to the board of management.

4 The archdiocese accepted during its response to 5 evidence that the archdiocese may have been represented 6 on the board of management, but it has not had sight of 7 documents confirming that was the case. But my Lady has 8 heard what I have said today. It is hoped that the 9 Inquiry finds some use from the documents which have 10 been provided.

11 As with St Joseph's, the archdiocese recognises that 12 the harm suffered by the young people at St John Bosco
13 was contributed to by a failure of institutional
14 oversight by the board of managers and to the extent 15 that the archdiocese contributed to the appointment to 16 or membership of that board of managers, it wishes to 17 acknowledge its contribution to those failings and 18 apologise to those who suffered.

19 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

20 MR DAVID BLAIR: In terms of current safeguarding practices, 21 my Lady, the archdiocese wishes to continue to make it
22 clear to the Inquiry, as it did in previous involvement
23 in this phase, that it takes allegations of abuse 24 seriously. The archdiocese has listened and wishes to 25 advise your Ladyship of the current and developing

1 safeguarding work being carried out by the archdiocese 2 in respect of children.

3 The archdiocese adheres to the safeguarding 4 procedures covering the whole Catholic Church in 5 Scotland and is monitored by the Scottish Catholic
6 Safeguarding Standards Agency, which is an independent
7 body established in 2022. The archdiocese has appended 8 to its written submissions the various safeguarding 9 structures now in place. Of particular relevance, this 10 includes the Diocesan Risk Assessment Management Team, 11 who oversee safeguarding practice focusing on risk and 12 chaired by a lay professional, and the Archdiocese and 13 Safeguarding Advisory Group.

14 LADY SMITH: They are separate, I take it, from the risk 15 assessment management team?

16 MR DAVID BLAIR: Yes, they are two separate groups, my Lady.

17 LADY SMITH: Yes, who do they report to, these two groups?

18 MR DAVID BLAIR: I am told the archbishop, my Lady.

19 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

20 MR DAVID BLAIR: National meetings of the safeguarding leads 21 also take place regularly and charity trustees receive 22 regular safeguarding reports and the safeguarding 23 adviser is available to them at meetings to brief and 24 answer questions. Each diocese is bound by arrangements
25 in the national manual 'In God's Image', which outlines

1 a range of safeguarding arrangements, including the 2 mandatory reporting of allegations to the relevant 3 statutory authorities. The archdiocese continues to 4 engage with subject access requests received from the 5 historic Redress Scheme and while the records it has are 6 very limited, it will endeavour to convey the absence of 7 records in a way which is both empathetic and respectful 8 in circumstances where it doesn't hold anything, 9 realising that these applicants are seeking records for 10 a very important part of their life.

11 In conclusion, my Lady, the archdiocese has followed 12 the work and findings of the Inquiry to date, in 13 particular as it is related to abuse in the context of 14 religious care and education. The archdiocese's 15 safeguarding adviser, Scott Mackenzie, is in attendance
16 today.

17 The archdiocese thanks the Inquiry for the 18 opportunity to make this statement and will continue to 19 undertake to assist the Inquiry in any way that is 20 appropriate in relation to its investigations. It looks 21 forward to receiving your Ladyship's findings in due 22 course.

23 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

24 If I can now move on to Loaningdale School.
25

1 Closing submissions by Mr David Blair in respect of 2 Loaningdale School

3 MR DAVID BLAIR: Yes, my Lady.

4 Again, I appear for the Loaningdale School Company
5 Limited. These submissions have been prepared in 6 response to the conclusion of evidence led in respect of 7 Phase 8. Loaningdale School Company thanks the Inquiry
8 for the opportunity to have appeared in the case study 9 in respect of Loaningdale School at Chapter 6, which 10 looked at schools including the List D school, 11 Loaningdale.

12 In contrast with some of the bodies who have 13 appeared at this Inquiry and were responsible for 14 a number of institutions, the Loaningdale School Company
15 was responsible for only one school, Loaningdale School
16 in Biggar. The school operated between 1962 and 1989, 17 originally as an approved school and thereafter as 18 a List D school until it ceased to operate.

19 The company as it is now has no connection with any 20 other educational establishment, past or present. As 21 the Inquiry will be aware from the earlier submissions 22 on behalf of the school, the company was registered as 23 a charity in 1962, in order to set up the school.
24 Although the school was closed in 1989, the charity
25 continues to exist. It remained in existence to manage

1 and disperse the funds that it held when the school
2 closed and the land was sold. It continues to do so
3 wholly for charitable purposes. Its current objective 4 is to provide financial assistance to children and young 5 people in need, with particular focus on those residing 6 within the area of Clydesdale in South Lanarkshire.

7 The company provides loans and grants for projects
8 involving young people which are carried out by others, 9 not the company itself. It has funded schools, sports 10 clubs and community events. It has not, since 1989, had 11 any direct management or control over any services, 12 educational or otherwise, and it exists solely to 13 provide funding for services for the benefit of young 14 people.

15 My Lady, evidence in respect of Loaningdale School
16 was heard between 28 May and 21 June last year.
17 Loaningdale School Company submitted an opening 18 statement, noting that it was in the unfortunate 19 position at that stage of being unable to provide much 20 information about Loaningdale School. This was due to 21 the period of time that had elapsed from its closure and 22 the lack of records available to the current trustees 23 and company.

24 As your Ladyship may recall, Mr Knox gave evidence
25 on 11 June. He is grateful for your Ladyship's

1 understanding of the position he and the company were 2 in, responding, as they must, to the Inquiry's 3 investigations into the school, without having had 4 direct involvement with it whilst it was open.

5 In advance of his evidence, Mr Knox had prepared 6 a chronology of records, reviews, research and searches 7 undertaken by the company, which was provided to the 8 Inquiry. This detailed the efforts made by the company
9 to uncover records between March 2017 and the beginning 10 of June 2024. During the course of his evidence, 11 Mr Knox acknowledged that there were other avenues that 12 remained open to the company to investigate and Mr Knox 13 undertook to carry out these further investigations in 14 respect of documents that might exist pertaining to the 15 school.

16 Whilst the Inquiry was updated with the outcome of 17 some of those searches in the response to evidence on 18 21 June 2024, we come before your Ladyship today to 19 provide a complete overview of the steps taken by 20 Mr Knox to recover further records.

21 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

22 MR DAVID BLAIR: Loaningdale made five new lines of enquiry, 23 namely with Loaningdale House, the Scottish Outdoor 24 Education Centres, His Majesty's Inspectorate, The 25 Mitchell Library archives department and the National

1 Records of Scotland. Taking each in turn, we can 2 provide the Inquiry with the following updates:

3 Loaningdale House and the Scottish Outdoor Education
4 Centres can be dealt with together. Loaningdale House 5 was sold by Loaningdale School Company to 6 Mr James Cameron. Mr Knox understands the house was 7 occupied by Mr Cameron and the office building was 8 rented or occupied by the Scottish Outdoor Education
9 Centre. Mr Knox has physically attended Loaningdale
10 House on 19 June 2024 and was advised that there were no 11 records on site.

12 He thereafter followed up his visit with an email to 13 both Mr Cameron and the Scottish Outdoor Education 14 Centre. A response was received on 19 June 2024, from 15 the Scottish Outdoor Education Centre, confirming that 16 there were no records and that it was not aware of any 17 records being passed on to the employees of the school, 18 Strathclyde Council or any other relevant body.

19 With respect to His Majesty's Inspectorate, they 20 were contacted by Mr Knox following his evidence.
21 A response was received from a representative of 22 Education Scotland on 24 June 2024, explaining that all 23 Scottish Government records and any retained by 24 Education Scotland relating to Loaningdale were already 25 before the Inquiry.

1 With regards to The Mitchell Library, they were 2 first contacted in May 2017. One of the company
3 trustees at the time had been advised by the then Head
4 of Justice and Children's Services that they held no
5 records in connection with the List D school, suggested 6 they contacted Dr Irene O'Brien, Chief Archivist at 7 Mitchell Library in Glasgow.

8 The company contacted Dr O'Brien who told us there
9 were no records relevant to Loaningdale, but thought 10 there was a possibility that some staff files may be 11 archived by South Lanarkshire Council, who, it 12 understood, was the successor of Strathclyde Regional 13 Council. South Lanarkshire Council were approached and 14 confirmed that they did not think there would be any 15 records retained relating to the List D school.

16 Following evidence to the Inquiry, Mr Knox contacted 17 The Mitchell Library again to receive written 18 confirmation of the same and to enquire further about 19 the existence specifically of staff files that may be 20 archived. The Mitchell Library was contacted in 21 June 2024, but no response was received. A further 22 letter was issued to The Mitchell Library on 23 20 January 2025, by the company's solicitors, and 24 a response is still awaited, my Lady.

25 Mr Knox believes the response will remain the same.

1 He understands that the Inquiry would nonetheless likely 2 benefit from written confirmation to that effect.

3 Finally, my Lady, the National Records of Scotland
4 were contacted following Mr Knox's evidence. A response 5 was received on 19 June 2024, advising the National 6 Records of Scotland hold a number of files from the 7 Scottish Education Department for the school, but did 8 not hold any administrative records.

9 Mr Knox sent the list of records held to the 10 solicitors representing the company and this was 11 provided to the Inquiry. The Inquiry has asked if it 12 would be possible to send any documents to them not 13 already before the Inquiry. It is understood that the 14 education department has provided all records which it 15 held to the Inquiry. However, two further emails were 16 issued by both Mr Knox and the solicitors representing 17 the company on 20 and 23 January, respectively.
18 A response has been provided by the data protection team
19 at the National Records of Scotland and this response 20 has been provided to the Inquiry.

21 The response explains that there are several open 22 files which allow for public viewing and closed files
23 which are subject to control. The records that are open 24 are believed to be before the Inquiry and they relate to 25 the research project, the calls for an inquiry following

1 the murder by Gordon Hay and the various public 2 consultations following the murder.

3 There are a number of redacted files in the open 4 category and closed files containing personal data.
5 These are also a number of files which the Scottish 6 Government is responsible for and for taking decisions 7 on who can access the exempt or closed records relating 8 to the Loaningdale School Company List D school.
9 Loaningdale has provided the response from Education 10 Scotland explaining the position with respect to those 11 records to the Inquiry.

12 My Lady, the company has exhausted the avenues that 13 it identified during Mr Knox's evidence. The company 14 appreciates it will be a matter for your Ladyship to 15 comment on, but it has acknowledged that it is 16 disappointing that there was seemingly no system in 17 place or put in place by those responsible for the 18 operation of the school, and those involved in the setup 19 and latterly the closure of the List D school, ensuring 20 the proper retention of school and children's records 21 and it is appreciated that leaves the Inquiry faced with 22 some prejudice and some difficulty.

23 With regards to the company's response to the 24 evidence, Mr Knox, the current chairman of the company, 25 was present in person or online to hear all of the 1 evidence led regarding Loaningdale School. A response 2 to the evidence led was provided on 21 June 2024, and 3 Loaningdale would adopt those submissions.

4 As Mr Knox made clear in his evidence; following the 5 evidence heard, the company accepts that children may 6 have been abused at Loaningdale. This is a matter of 7 deep regret for those that are currently involved with 8 the company. The company's initial response to the 9 Inquiry in which it was unaware of any abuse having 10 taken place was one made by reference to the lack of 11 documents available, and Mr Knox accepted in his 12 evidence that the accounts given spoke to a number of 13 instances of abuse. Mr Knox and the company accept that 14 in terms of the original response, had they taken advice 15 at the time or entered into further dialogue at 16 an earlier stage, it might have been possible to respond 17 in a more helpful way at that time.

18 Mr Knox in his role as chairman of the company has 19 sought to exhaust all avenues within his and the 20 company's knowledge in respect of further records. It 21 is hoped that the responses provided to the Inquiry will 22 be of some assistance, even where that response is that 23 there appear to be no records.

24 From its own research and from listening to the 25 evidence, the company recognises that Loaningdale was to 1 an extent seen as offering an alternative approach to 2 the provision of education.

3 LADY SMITH: Yes.

4 MR DAVID BLAIR: The company listened to the evidence that 5 the school was seen as offering an alternative to the 6 more traditional model at other residential schools.
7 The school on the evidence appears to have been run on 8 the basis of giving more freedom to the children who 9 were resident there than might have been considered 10 usual at the time, and in particular for an approved or 11 List D school. Whilst there might have been benefits 12 arising from that, this approach appears also to have 13 brought its own problems. The evidence includes that 14 which might be said to be positive about Loaningdale, in 15 particular from three individuals who worked there. It 16 was also present in the statements of some of the 17 applicants. The evidence has identified issues of 18 oversight, however, and the need to ensure clear 19 policies and practice for the retention of records, 20 especially records which involve the care and education 21 of children.

22 Turning, my Lady, to the present. The company now
23 exists solely as a charity, managing and dispersing 24 funds. It does so for the benefits of children and 25 young people. It hopes that whatever findings the

1 Inquiry makes about the school whilst it was open, its 2 remaining assets will be put to good use.

3 The company would wish to inform the Inquiry that 4 since the conclusion of the evidence pertaining to the 5 school, the company has signed up to the Scottish 6 Government's historic abuse Redress Scheme and the 7 company will continue to endeavour to assist the Inquiry 8 in whatever capacity that may be following the 9 conclusion of Phase 8.

10 This decision in relation to the Redress Scheme 11 demonstrates, in my submission, the current company's 12 commitment to redress and resolution for all those who 13 suffered any form of abuse whilst at Loaningdale.
14 A copy of the contract between the company and the 15 Scottish Government has been provided to the Inquiry for 16 its information, along with the various correspondence
17 in respect of Mr Knox's records searches.

18 Loaningdale School Company once again, my Lady, 19 extends its thanks to the Inquiry and commends the 20 bravery of all applicants who have come forward to give 21 their evidence during this phase.

22 LADY SMITH: Thank you very much, Mr Blair.

23 With that further mention of redress, there is one 24 thing I want to say and I think I have said it before.
25 Whilst I am interested to hear whether or not

1 organisations have joined the Redress Scheme and 2 contributed to it, rather because, as you say, it is 3 a way of them, well, demonstrating their 4 acknowledgement, their commitment to doing something 5 that they can now in relation to what happened in the 6 past, but the Redress Scheme is entirely separate from 7 the Inquiry. I say this just because there still seems 8 to be some confusion around and we do have approaches 9 from people that don't understand we are separate.

10 I can have no influence over the Redress Scheme.
11 I cannot, to use an old-fashioned Scottish phrase, take 12 to do with the Redress Scheme at all. I am not 13 suggesting either you or Mr Brodie meant that, but it is 14 an opportunity for me just to mention it once more.

15 There is a notice on our website explaining we are 16 quite separate and Redress have their own website if 17 people want to find out.

18 Thank you very much, Mr Blair.

19 MR DAVID BLAIR: Thank you.

20 LADY SMITH: If I can now turn to representation for

21 Dr Guthrie's and then go on to Rossie. Mr Haywood,

22 I think you are here for both of them, is that right?

23 Closing submissions by Mr Haywood on behalf of Dr Guthrie's

24 MR HAYWOOD: Yes, my Lady, thank you.

25 Dr Guthrie's. My Lady, the Inquiry received closing

1 comments on behalf of the association in June 2024 at 2 the conclusion of the hearing of the evidence in respect 3 of the schools.

4 Prior to that, in September 2023, an opening 5 statement was also made on behalf of the association, 6 and both of those submissions are adopted.

7 On both occasions, reference was made to the long 8 history of both the boys' and the girls' schools, and 9 I don't intend to return to that, but merely to remind 10 the Inquiry that the schools closed in 1985 and 1986
11 respectively. After closure, the proceeds from the sale 12 of the schools' properties were placed in trust and for 13 the past 38 years, the association has functioned only 14 as a grant-giving organisation.

15 Records for the schools are held at the National 16 Records of Scotland, and the association, not having any 17 employees, drew upon the assistance of a professional 18 archivist in order to provide the Inquiry with the 19 information that it had requested. The Inquiry also had 20 the benefit of the archivist's evidence, and also the 21 association's chair appeared before the Inquiry.

22 The evidence before the Inquiry revealed the 23 shocking nature and impact of abuse suffered by pupils 24 at the schools. The schools fell seriously short of the 25 care and protection that should have been provided to

1 the children. When reflecting on the evidence, the 2 chair of the association described it as 'awful' and 3 'dreadful'. As the Inquiry heard, the association 4 exists now to give grants to organisations and in 5 particular to small charities that are devoted to the 6 care and welfare of children and young people in 7 Scotland who are living in deprivation, and around 70 8 organisations benefit annually from the funds that are 9 provided, and that provides a positive impact on young 10 people.

11 The grant money that the association has dispensed
12 for the past 38 years is, of course, from the proceeds 13 of the sale of the schools, and in that sense, every 14 pound that the association gives is a legacy of the 15 schools. In its June 2024 comments, the association 16 recognised this fact and the dissonance between 17 Dr Guthrie's vision and good works of the 19th century 18 and the evidence that was before the Inquiry of what 19 happened in the schools in the 20th century. Its 20 history is its history.

21 LADY SMITH: What do you mean by that, Mr Haywood, 'its 22 history is its history'?

23 MR HAYWOOD: I think the simple point, my Lady, is that the 24 name Dr Guthrie's remains. We all pass the statue in 25 Princes Street Gardens. This association connects

1 itself with Dr Guthrie's and desires to continue in the 2 charitable work that it does in his name, but part of 3 the history of that name is what was before the Inquiry.
4 LADY SMITH: I see.
5 Of course, if you simply focus on Dr Guthrie, you 6 focus on a man who was truly philanthropic, who 7 identified a need that needed to be addressed, to 8 provide for children, to provide education for children.
9 There is no evidence that he ever intended that they 10 should suffer abuse in the schools.
11 MR HAYWOOD: Not at all, my Lady, and that's why the word 12 'dissonance' is used as one looks at the name.
13 Certainly that's the pain that was expressed by the 14 chair, who, I think, indicated that she also had 15 a historical connection with Dr Guthrie himself.
16 LADY SMITH: She has, mm-hm.
17 MR HAYWOOD: My Lady, I conclude by saying that the reality
18 of today is that the association is a volunteer-run, 19 grant-making organisation, which does strive to follow
20 Dr Guthrie's original 19th century vision and actions.
21 The association has asked me again to express its 22 heartfelt apology to all those that have suffered.
23 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

1 Closing submissions by Mr Haywood on behalf of Rossie Young

2 People's Trust

3 MR HAYWOOD: My Lady, if I can now turn to Rossie Young

4 People's Trust.

5 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

6 MR HAYWOOD: In respect of the trust, the closing remarks

7 were provided to the Inquiry just a few days ago, on 8 31 January.

9 LADY SMITH: Mm-hm.

10 MR HAYWOOD: These remarks were made at the end of the 11 hearing of evidence in respect of Rossie, which was 12 heard through January. I indicated at that time that it

13 was unlikely that Rossie would have too much to add at 14 this stage. Given that those remarks were only made

15 a few days ago, I can confirm that that is indeed the 16 position, although the trust does wish me to reiterate

17 a couple of points, which I will do briefly.

18 Rossie aspires to be a centre of excellence which

19 seeks to improve the well-being of young people who have 20 been exposed to adverse childhood experiences. The 21 Inquiry heard evidence about what sits behind that 22 aspiration, and it is more than just words.

23 I have, however, been asked to reiterate what has 24 been said in two previous statements and the evidence of 25 Rossie's CEO and the chair. Past wrongs at Rossie must

1 be acknowledged but there needs to be more than just 2 an acknowledgement. Rossie joined the Redress Scotland
3 scheme, and I have heard what my Lady has said about 4 that, and she raised that at the time when the point was 5 made in the closing submissions.

6 LADY SMITH: Indeed.

7 MR HAYWOOD: It is part of the national endeavour, which 8 seeks to right the wrongs of the past for children who 9 were abused while in care, but that is not a fix. As 10 Rossie seeks to fulfil its ongoing vision as a place of 11 excellence, its continuing evolution and ongoing 12 improvements are set against the backdrop of knowing 13 what it has developed from.

14 As I submitted just days ago, the Rossie of today is 15 proud of its recent achievements and awards, but it is 16 not complacent. The shadow of its history, explored
17 before the Inquiry, ought to ensure that complacency 18 never creeps in. The evidence of the trust's CEO and 19 chair should be reassuring in that regard, but 20 institutions are not static places, and their eventual 21 successors will need to be vigilant.

22 To this extent I point again to what was said in the 23 closing comments about governance. In my submission 24 today, there is evidence of a high level of 25 accountability by the leaders of Rossie to the trust's

1 board of governors, and that is how it ought to be. Yet 2 it was also made clear in evidence that that is 3 an ongoing challenge to ensure that Rossie's board 4 continues to be populated with suitably qualified 5 trustees, who are and will be able to actively fulfil 6 their duties. As my Lady emphasised when I was making 7 those submissions, that's statutory duties.

8 That challenge is particularly acute, given the 9 geography of Rossie. In my submission that should sound
10 a klaxon horn in a general sense to the Inquiry.
11 Perhaps it is supposition on my part, but when examining 12 Rossie's past failings, weak leadership and unprincipled 13 leadership were apparent. That stands in stark contrast 14 to the Rossie of today.

15 What the Inquiry heard in evidence was appalling and 16 shameful. Yet in my submission the evidence before the 17 Inquiry has demonstrated that the Rossie of today is 18 very different to the Rossie of the 1960s, 1970s, 1980s
19 and even the early part of the 1990s. When making 20 closing submissions on 31 January, the latest Care 21 Inspectorate inspection had occurred, but the report had 22 not yet been available. It was provided last week and 23 it supports what has been said in evidence and in these 24 submissions.

25 In evaluating Rossie on a scale of one to six, the

1 Inspectorate concluded that Rossie merited a score of 2 five (very good) in respect of support for young 3 people's rights and well-being.

4 Measured against a criteria of whether young people 5 are 'Safe, feel loved and get the most out of life', the 6 assessment was again very good; that is a five out of 7 six.

8 In respect of whether leadership and staff have the 9 capacity and resources to meet and champion young 10 people's needs and rights, Rossie was described as 11 excellent, six out of six.

12 In the concluding comments of the report, the 13 following was stated, and I quote:

14 'We found recruitment processes was thorough and 15 attracted a high calibre of staff. The process included 16 the young people's view and safe recruitment principles 17 were in place. The induction process was also of a high 18 quality, and ensured staff were confident in their roles 19 and also provided a mentor to support them through the 20 probation period. The development plan within the 21 service focused on future investments to enhance 22 staffing in the future. Excellent and robust self 23 evaluation was an integral part of the organisation in 24 promoting positive outcomes for young people. We found 25 any areas where we recommended future development were

1 already recognised by senior leaders and evidenced in 2 self evaluation and development plans.'

3 My Lady, I took the time to read that quote because 4 obviously a lot of the questions from the earlier years
5 were around the nature of the staff and what the staff
6 were doing and the extent to which there was proper 7 oversight and proper training. I think what we have 8 seen in this report demonstrates that in fact today's 9 Rossie gets it.

10 While good things can be said about the Rossie of 11 today, I am instructed on Rossie's behalf to once more 12 express genuine sympathy for all who suffered any form
13 of abuse while connected with Rossie. Rossie apologises 14 unreservedly. Rossie further adopts the statements and 15 the submissions previously made to the Inquiry at the 16 opening of this phase of the Inquiry, and at the 17 conclusion of the evidence a few days ago.

18 Rossie is grateful for the opportunity to be heard 19 today, thank you.

20 LADY SMITH: Thank you, Mr Haywood.

21 I am going to take a mid-afternoon break now and 22 I will sit again in no more than ten minutes.

23 Thank you.

24 (3.05 pm)

25 (A short break)

1 (3.15 pm)

2 LADY SMITH: Welcome back. I would like now, if I may, to 3 turn to submissions for Aberdeen City Council. I see, 4 Mr McKenzie, you are here for Aberdeen.

5 Closing submissions by Mr McKenzie on behalf of Aberdeen
6 City Council

7 MR MCKENZIE: Yes, thank you, my Lady.

8 Aberdeen City Council is grateful for the ongoing 9 work of this Inquiry and for its opportunity to 10 participate in this phase.

11 The council wishes to begin those closing 12 submissions by adopting the contents of its previous 13 submissions made in respect of the Oakbank School and 14 Brimmond Assessment Centre on 23 October 2024 and 15 15 November 2024 respectively. It also refers to the 16 extensive submissions that it made in respect of the 17 Section 21 notices, issued as part of that phase.

18 Importantly, the council takes this opportunity to 19 restate its sincere and unreserved apology to those who 20 suffered abuse in institutions run by and affiliated 21 with it. The tenor of the evidence from survivors was 22 clear, as it was deeply affecting. There can be no 23 doubt that vulnerable children were systematically let 24 down by those entrusted with their care across the 25 country and those in Aberdeen were sadly no exception.

1 The council takes the ongoing work of the Inquiry
2 extremely seriously. It has devoted considerable 3 resources to gathering and analysing records and data in 4 order to respond as comprehensively as possible to the 5 Section 21 notices issued by the Inquiry.

6 Representatives of the council have attended the 7 Inquiry remotely when the evidence of survivors has 8 either been given in person or read in to the record by 9 Inquiry counsel during Chapters 9 and 10. Every witness 10 statement relating to those who experienced care in 11 Oakbank and Brimmond has been read and analysed to 12 ensure that the evidence given by all survivors has been 13 heard and all possible lessons learned.

14 In respect of findings in fact, in keeping with its 15 approach throughout the Inquiry, the council makes no
16 challenge to the evidence led during this phase. It 17 does not seek to cast doubt or undermine in any way the 18 evidence of past experiences at local authority 19 establishments associated with Aberdeen City Council and 20 its predecessors.

21 Similarly, the council does not seek to influence 22 any findings of fact that the Inquiry will make in due 23 course. Its anticipation is that the Inquiry will 24 readily find that there were systematic failures on the 25 part of responsible bodies, including the council and

1 its predecessors, within the period covered by the 2 Inquiry's terms of reference. The council does not 3 demur from that.

4 There are clear themes from the evidence. There was 5 a lack of effective oversight, inadequate records kept, 6 and, perhaps most importantly, an inability or 7 unwillingness to put children's welfare at the centre of 8 its decision-making. These factors combined to create 9 unhappy environments where abuse of children could occur 10 on a regular basis.

11 Brimmond in particular was described by more than 12 one survivor as akin to a military regime, where 13 physical and emotional abuse was commonplace. It was 14 normalised rather than stopped. Vulnerable children
15 would 'try to make yourself invisible' to cope with it, 16 as one survivor described. We can never allow ourselves 17 to forget what so many have endured and how it was 18 allowed to happen.

19 In that vein, it is crucial to listen to the 20 experience of survivors so that we can do our utmost to 21 ensure that the errors of the past are never repeated.
22 The Inquiry has heard extensive evidence from the 23 council's Chief Social Worker in relation to modern, 24 child-centred practices in its establishments and those 25 affiliated with it, as well as its commitment to ongoing

1 learning and development of its workforce. It is 2 committed to keeping the welfare of young people at the 3 heart of its public protection services.

4 For instance, Aberdeen continues to engage a single 5 independent chair for its audit and child protection 6 committees, that's a former chief superintendent in the 7 police, North Scotland Division. Through this it 8 strives for a consistent approach in governance and 9 oversight, as well as identifying and addressing public 10 protection risks. Service performance is closely 11 monitored and assessed against a quality assurance 12 framework, to identify practice and areas for 13 improvement. Its approach is supported and informed by 14 wholesale improvements in thorough data collection, 15 retention and analysis, doing its utmost to ensure that 16 children's experiences are at the centre of its work.
17 Records are not kept solely for legal and administrative 18 reasons, they represent people's lives and their stories 19 and are kept with this in mind.

20 Indeed, with the incorporation of the UN Convention 21 of the Rights of the Child into Scottish law, The 22 Promise, the Bairns' Hoose, the Scottish Child Interview
23 Model, the Mind of My Own app, the Bright Spots 24 programme, as well as its services that focus on 25 children's rights enabling them to raise issues, the

1 council is dedicated to offering every child in its care
2 the opportunity to be seen and heard at all times.
3 Children should never have to feel that they ought to 4 make themselves invisible.

5 As far as staff, they are trained in trauma-informed 6 practice with a focus on continuing learning and 7 development. Restraint is not practised in Aberdeen
8 City Council establishments. The Inquiry has heard 9 evidence in respect of the council's modern focus on 10 therapeutic practice and dyadic development 11 psychotherapy in particular. It is a member of the 12 Scottish Physical Restraint Group, which leads in 13 seeking to eliminate the use of physical restraint with 14 residential care provision.

15 In all of its work, the council is acutely aware 16 that it can never allow itself and its workforce to run 17 the risk of complacency. One of the many lessons that 18 can be learned from the Inquiry's work in this context 19 is that abusive behaviours can take many forms, as can 20 abusive cultures. Complacency in respect of children's 21 voices, rights and experiences can open the door to the 22 types of abuse about which the Inquiry has sadly heard 23 overwhelming evidence. It can never be tolerated.

24 In closing, my Lady, this phase of the Inquiry has 25 played a vital role in informing and affirming Aberdeen

1 City Council's ongoing commitment to put children's 2 well-being at the forefront of its service provision.
3 It reiterates its thanks to those who have given 4 evidence and to the Inquiry for its continuing work.

5 Thank you, my Lady.

6 LADY SMITH: Thank you, Mr McKenzie.

7 Could I turn to Mr Blair for Inverclyde Council, 8 please.

9 Closing submissions by Mr Scott Blair on behalf of 10 Inverclyde Council

11 MR SCOTT BLAIR: I am obliged, my Lady.

12 Once again, I appear for Inverclyde Council in 13 relation to this phase of the residential care case 14 study. The council thanks the Inquiry for this 15 opportunity to participate. It is mindful that the 16 council provided detailed submissions in October of last 17 year. Parts 2 through to 11 of the submissions provided 18 to the Inquiry sets out what those submissions were.

19 Those were focused primarily on Balrossie School in 20 Kilmacolm. The council doesn't intend to repeat those 21 submissions orally, but would simply wish to reaffirm 22 that it wishes to stand by them in this final closing 23 submission.

24 The council is mindful, of course, that since that 25 submission was made in October of last year, additional

1 matters have arisen, and, indeed, the Inquiry itself has 2 invited the council to make submissions on particular 3 matters such as additional findings of fact, any 4 acceptance of failure, current work in relation to 5 improvements in policy or practice and any themes
6 relevant to the terms of reference which have emerged 7 from the evidence in this phase.

8 In addition to that, the council would also wish to 9 make some submissions on certain areas, Langlands
10 School, the Section 21 response relative to child 11 protection, and the outstanding Section 21 response in 12 relation to the implementation of other inquiry 13 recommendations from other inquiries over the years.

14 My Lady has heard detailed submissions this 15 afternoon from my learned friend Mr Brodie on behalf of 16 CrossReach, and in relation to the matter of Langlands, 17 the council would broadly take the position that 18 Langlands School operated before Inverclyde Council 19 existed. Although it attempted to recover records from 20 the Church of Scotland, the material held by the council 21 in relation to Langlands was very limited indeed. It is 22 heartened to hear, however, this afternoon the very full 23 submissions from Mr Brodie, and the broad acceptance 24 that sadly abuse at Langlands School was something that 25 was all too common.

1 The council doesn't therefore intend to make any 2 particular detailed submissions on Langlands, but 3 simply, as is set out in the written submission, to 4 acknowledge that plainly there was witness evidence from 5 a number of witnesses indicating abuse of a physical 6 nature, of a sexual nature, including allegations of 7 rape, and also racist behaviour.

8 The council has tried to establish if the Children's 9 Officer under the 1948 Act visited Langlands or if it 10 was otherwise referred to in borough records.

11 LADY SMITH: Yes.

12 MR SCOTT BLAIR: The council has found no material in that 13 regard and that may, my Lady, simply reflect, what 14 I understand, at least from the survey of the 15 legislation, to be the very limited role, if any, of 16 local authorities in relation to institutions of this 17 kind in the period of 1940s and 1950s.

18 LADY SMITH: Yes.

19 MR SCOTT BLAIR: The council broadly takes the position that 20 it has been somewhat removed from Langlands and isn't in 21 a position to make much more of a focused submission, 22 but nevertheless, having reviewed the witness evidence 23 in relation to Langlands School, it does accept that 24 serious allegations of abuse have been made, involving 25 in particular a Mr MSH.

1 There is nothing, though, my Lady in the information 2 available to the council at least to indicate that any 3 of the predecessor local authorities of the current 4 council were aware of any abuse or failed to prevent or 5 detect it. In saying that, the council would readily 6 accept the absence of records in that regard and the 7 quite possibly limited role that the local authority 8 would have had at the time in relation to an institution 9 operated by the Church of Scotland.

10 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

11 MR SCOTT BLAIR: Turning away from Langlands, my Lady will 12 recall the evidence of Mr Jonathan Hinds, the Chief 13 Social Work Officer, who gave detailed evidence in 14 respect of Balrossie in Kilmacolm. Again, the 15 submission provided to the Inquiry sets out in some 16 detail what that evidence was, and what findings the 17 Inquiry might take from that evidence. I don't intend 18 to rehearse that in any detail, my Lady.

19 Before I do move on to areas where submissions are 20 to be made, the council would again wish to make it 21 entirely plain and clear that, notwithstanding the 22 sincerely held belief of the council that it has always 23 striven to protect children in the care system, it does 24 note from the evidence accounts of physical, sexual and 25 emotional abuse in care, and that some, albeit few of

1 those allegations, arose after the establishment of the 2 council in April 1996. It will, of course, be for the 3 Inquiry to decide if there is evidence which is capable 4 of supporting those allegations.

5 Equally the council has, through the Section 21
6 process and the file reading and analysis report, 7 identified instances of abuse from residents who were at 8 Balrossie after 1996 but who have not given any evidence 9 to the Inquiry. The council continues to apologise to 10 any of those whose lives have been impacted by the abuse 11 they have suffered whilst in the care of this council, 12 and it again wishes to reiterate and stress their 13 genuine and sincerely held intention to engage fully 14 with the Inquiry and to learn from good practice and the 15 mistakes of the past, to ensure that the council can 16 continuously build upon and improve the protections of 17 some of the most vulnerable children in our society.
18 The council recognises the lifelong adverse impact of 19 abuse on survivors.

20 My Lady, turning to the areas where I do wish to 21 make some more specific submissions to supplement what 22 was said in October of last year, and in particular any 23 failings or deficiencies in systems, or responses to 24 abuse identified from the evidence.

25 In relation to Balrossie, the position of the 1 council is that while broadly from 1 April 1996, when 2 the council came into being, the picture in relation to 3 Balrossie is a broadly positive one. The same cannot be 4 said of Balrossie before that period. While there

5 appear to have been clear improvements under the second 6 headmaster, the reading of records and the evidence 7 before the Inquiry has indicated to the council that the 8 regime might fairly be described as punitive in ethos.
9 Even with improvements over time, there was little 10 assessment by Balrossie of the needs of children placed 11 there and where there was no apparent alternative to 12 placement in Balrossie at all.

13 Allegations made by children were not properly 14 investigated internally, and where referral was made to 15 external agencies, such as the police or social work, 16 those were not supported by the prevailing regimes.

17 Care staff --

18 LADY SMITH: This council is not alone in failing to, on the 19 evidence, recognise the many reasons why children will 20 not report, all of which I think I can safely say the 21 provider is capable of, if not eliminating, mitigating.
22 You will never eliminate a child being worried that, if 23 the report would be about another child abusing them, 24 that it is going to make things worse if they say 25 anything to anybody, however good the system.

1 But just about everything else in the list, I think 2 we had a list of seven alluded to yesterday, were 3 disincentives to the child that the provider could just 4 about eliminate if they had a good system for children
5 feeling able to speak up, the right people to speak up 6 to, knowing how to do it, knowing that they would be 7 listened to, knowing that their complaint wouldn't be 8 dismissed at nonsense, and so on.

9 MR SCOTT BLAIR: Entirely, my Lady. I didn't hear the 10 evidence yesterday, but it strikes me in relation to the 11 remarks from her Ladyship that by getting those 12 processes out there and making it clear there are ways 13 of tackling these difficulties in how children sometimes 14 fail to speak up, there is really little excuse to not 15 now engage and develop systems which will address those 16 particular challenges.

17 LADY SMITH: Part of the development of the right system is 18 growing the right culture in which children feel 19 supported, and that they matter, and they will be 20 listened to.

21 MR SCOTT BLAIR: Entirely, my Lady. In relation to 22 Balrossie, the culture was at that time pretty punitive.

23 LADY SMITH: Indeed.

24 MR SCOTT BLAIR: And damned if you do, damned if you don't, 25 I think, in essence.

1 LADY SMITH: Yes, thank you.

2 MR SCOTT BLAIR: The position of the council in relation to 3 Balrossie is that these failures -- which I think can be 4 categorised as non-exhaustive -- are systemic. The 5 council would accept it is open to the Inquiry to 6 conclude there was systemic abuse at Balrossie within 7 the terms of reference for the Inquiry, and in 8 particular in relation to the tenure of the first 9 headmaster. Matters did improve under the second 10 headmaster to a considerable degree, but there were 11 still areas over which he had little direct control, 12 such as the qualification of staff.

13 In relation to the period since 1 April 1996, and 14 for the remainder of the operation of Balrossie until 15 closure, a matter of a couple of years after that, the 16 position of the council is that there is no body of 17 evidence to show there were systemic failures at 18 Balrossie in relation to the terms of reference of the 19 Inquiry. That's not to say that allegations have not 20 been made, but the pattern of systemic abuse which was 21 apparent from the 1960s, 1970s, 1980s, into the early 22 1990s to some extent, is not one which can be inferred 23 from the evidence.

24 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

25 MR SCOTT BLAIR: In relation to facts which the Inquiry

1 should find established, my Lady. Again, looking at 2 Balrossie, the council would invite the Inquiry to make 3 broad findings of fact under these heads: that the 4 extent of the use of corporal punishment was excessive 5 during the tenure of the first headmaster; that 6 punishment could exceed what was recommended in terms of 7 the maximum, and was often delivered in a manner which 8 was contrary to prescribed practice; that the overall 9 culture of Balrossie changed when the first headmaster
10 changed to the second headmaster; that the new culture 11 might fairly be regarded as based not on punishment and 12 containment, but in the provision of a more caring and 13 nurturing environment, coupled with an awareness of the 14 rights of residents as children; that concerns in 15 relation to the first headmaster were known to relevant 16 persons at the time, but there was insufficient action 17 taken to address them; that even with the more 18 enlightened regime of the second headmaster, there was 19 still a reluctance to report absconsion to the police, 20 born of a belief that such might impact on what was felt 21 to be the normality of life for the residents.

22 Moving away from specific findings of fact in 23 relation to Balrossie, and turning now to themes of 24 a more general nature emerging from the terms of 25 reference. Having had the opportunity to reflect on the

1 evidence about Balrossie, Langlands and, indeed, 2 evidence as a whole in this Inquiry, the council would 3 put forward the following as broad themes for 4 consideration by the Inquiry: the lack of a coherent
5 response to indicators of risk or harm within child 6 protection practice; the prevalence of excessive, even 7 for the standards of the time, physical punishment and 8 departure from the rules governing the use of such for 9 much of the period of the terms of reference; excessive 10 and inappropriate use of restraint for much of the 11 period of the terms of reference; recruitment of persons 12 who were not suited to providing care because of a lack 13 of checks and background information, and weak 14 recruitment practices, nationally and locally, which 15 enabled those who wished to abuse children for much of 16 the period of the terms of reference; a failure on the 17 part of relevant authorities to properly record 18 allegations of abuse when made, and to record the 19 outcome of any investigation for much of the period of 20 the terms of reference; a failure to properly explore 21 the reasons which actually underlay any incident of 22 absconsion for much of the period of the terms of 23 reference; a failure to properly explore why a child or 24 young person who had made a complaint then withdrew it 25 for much of the period of the terms of reference; and

1 from the wider material before the Inquiry, the lack of 2 any, or at least any sufficient assessment of risk, 3 and/or the appropriateness of a facility for a child or 4 young person before admission for much of the period of 5 the terms of reference.

6 Turning to what is hopefully a more positive
7 message, in relation to the Section 21 response on child
8 protection and related matters and current practice
9 within the council now. At part 13 of the submission, 10 I attempt to set out a number of areas which hopefully 11 sets out in some detail what this council has been doing 12 for some time now, and what it intends to do in the 13 future.

14 The council responded to the relevant Section 21
15 notice on 15 July last year, and provided some ten 16 appendices. This part of the submission, when taken 17 with that material, is an attempt to outline the 18 response and address the issue of what steps the 19 council's taken to attack and address areas which have 20 been areas of need and to what it has learned in terms 21 of the nature of the abuse, the prevalence of it, and 22 what can be done. Again, of course, my Lady, this 23 should be read along with the evidence of Mr Hinds.

24 The council would submit it provided a detailed and 25 full response to the notice as to how staff were

1 familiar with, including but not limited to: the 2 National Guidance for Child Protection 2021; the 3 dissemination of information on child protection through 4 the multi-agency guidance of Inverclyde Council; the 5 work of the Child Protection Committee; the development, 6 the strategy, the standards and programme for 2024/2025.
7 In addition, the council has provided evidence of local 8 authority policy on the reporting of child protection 9 concerns.

10 In essence, all staff in the council are treated as 11 having a child protection role and must be fully 12 conversant with child protection procedures. It is 13 expected there will be an immediate reporting of 14 concerns to the line manager, to social work and police, 15 and, even as we speak, the current policy is being 16 reviewed, currently led by the Lead Officer for Child
17 Protection in relation to the partnership arrangement it 18 has with the Child Protection Committee. There is 19 a code of conduct for the council, which includes 20 a clear statement on confidential reporting or 21 whistleblowing.

22 In relation to the child protection process, this is 23 well-established and senior practitioners are readily 24 available to more junior staff to discuss concerns.
25 There is a good, strong relationship with other

1 agencies, including the police, as well as wider
2 partnership arrangements through the Chief Officers
3 Group, the Protection Committee, and representation in 4 sub groups within Police Scotland. The use of the 5 initial referral discussion procedure is well embedded 6 in the reporting and handling of incidents of possible
7 abuse. There is clear and detailed provision on record
8 keeping, and the council supports staff in exercising 9 judgment in identifying a risk of possible harm under 10 reference to widely understood and clear criteria of 11 what a risk might look like.

12 The council in that response also used it as a means 13 to reflect on what might in addition be done. For 14 example, the introduction of mandatory training for 15 employees on adult and child protection as early as 16 their initial induction, to put it front and centre of 17 the roles. And in relation to child protection 18 procedures, the development of refresher training to 19 remind staff of their responsibilities.

20 There is one outstanding Section 21 response, and 21 those who instruct me tell me that work is well advanced 22 in relation to that.

23 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

24 MR SCOTT BLAIR: That, of course, relates to the extent to 25 which the council has taken into account the work of

1 other inquiries and reviews, including the National 2 Confidential Forum and the Independent Care Review.

3 That response is due to be lodged by 10 March, my 4 Lady --

5 LADY SMITH: Yes.

6 MR SCOTT BLAIR: -- and I am confident that that will 7 happen.

8 LADY SMITH: Good, thank you.

9 MR SCOTT BLAIR: In relation to any additional litigations 10 or complaints, the council can advise the Inquiry that 11 since the previous hearing it has not received any 12 intimation of any litigation, further litigation that 13 is, relating to Balrossie or, indeed, any further 14 complaints in relation to Balrossie or Langlands. But 15 the council is not complacent, and it recognises that 16 not every live victim of abuse will complain. As ever, 17 the council does encourage complaints to be made against 18 the background of the council to listen and offer 19 support.

20 My Lady, by way of conclusion, again the council 21 comes to this Inquiry with an open mind and 22 a willingness to learn. It does not doubt that it has 23 learned from this process. It is something which is to 24 the clear benefit of all children in the area of 25 Inverclyde Council.

1 applicants and the second relating to Kibble today.

2 My Lady, insofar as the evidence of the applicants
3 is concerned, I would wish to repeat what I previously 4 submitted regarding the evidence which my Lady heard 5 from the applicants regarding their experiences at 6 Kibble.

7 As I stated at paragraph 5 of the earlier 8 submission, in giving evidence about the most serious 9 incidents of both physical and sexual abuse, to which 10 they or others were subject during their childhood, 11 whilst in care at Kibble in periods in the early 1960s 12 and early 1980s, in my submission the applicants showed 13 a quiet dignity and extraordinary courage in equal 14 measure.

15 My Lady, as Mr MacMillan, the Director of Corporate 16 Services of Kibble, said in evidence, having listened to 17 the accounts of the witnesses 'Iain' and 'Graham', the 18 events described were 'appalling' and the manner in 19 which the applicants gave their evidence was 'humbling'.

20 My Lady will also recall, as noted at paragraph 5 of 21 the earlier submission, that Mr MacMillan had no 22 hesitation in very properly acknowledging that the 23 conduct with which the Inquiry is concerned at Kibble in 24 the period of the early 1960s, 1980s and 1990, was not 25 only appalling, but also reflected systemic failings,

1 which at various times included a repeated disregard by 2 staff for acts of physical and sexual abuse, whether 3 committed by other young persons or staff, and on 4 occasions sexual abuse perpetrated by the [REDACTED]
5 member of staff. Systemic failings for which, on behalf
6 of Kibble, Mr MacMillan offered his deepest sympathies 7 to all victims. I can indicate to my Lady that 8 Mr MacMillan is again at the Inquiry present today.

9 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

10 MR GRAY: My Lady, turning to the Kibble of today. My Lady, 11 in the submission which I made last year, I also made 12 detailed reference to the steps taken by Kibble and in 13 particular the witness 'Robert', upon [REDACTED] 14 SNR [REDACTED] of Kibble in 1993, to address comprehensively 15 the deficiencies in operation which he had identified 16 and which clearly existed at many similar institutions, 17 with a view to ensuring, insofar as was reasonably 18 practicable, that the sort of abuse described by the 19 applicants to this Inquiry would never recur, and that 20 Kibble would become a safe environment which met the 21 needs of young persons, both compassionately and 22 appropriately.

23 My Lady, I note that the success of the steps taken 24 by Kibble was a matter which was noted yesterday by 25 counsel to the Inquiry in their closing submissions.

1 LADY SMITH: Yes.

2 MR GRAY: As I submitted at paragraph 13 of the earlier 3 submission, as a result of its intensive and innovative 4 efforts over the last 30 years, in my submission Kibble 5 is now quite properly recognised as a centre of 6 excellence in its field and, as the Inquiry heard in the 7 course of evidence, it has gradually expanded the scope 8 of the expert and specialist services which it provides 9 to ensure that there is a wholly integrated system of 10 measures and services in place, to meet the diverse and 11 frequently complex needs of vulnerable young persons.

12 My Lady, against this background, it is perhaps not 13 surprising, as I noted in my earlier submission, that 14 the quality of the service which Kibble provides, and 15 the care and compassion with which that service is 16 provided, is something which has been consistently 17 recognised by the Care Inspectorate in its various 18 inspections in recent years.

19 My Lady, in all the circumstances which I set out in 20 detail in my earlier submission, and which I have 21 summarised very briefly this afternoon, I would invite 22 my Lady to conclude that, consistent with what one would 23 hope from an organisation which takes its 24 responsibilities extremely seriously, Kibble has taken 25 the most comprehensive of measures in the last 30 years

1 to place the safety and welfare of the young persons in 2 its care at the heart of its activities, and that the 3 most recent findings of the Care Inspectorate provide 4 reassurance as to the success of the measures which have 5 been taken.

6 I would, however, my Lady, wish to conclude these 7 very brief submissions, as I did last year, by repeating 8 the very deepest and most genuine sympathies on behalf 9 of Kibble to all those who suffered any form of abuse 10 whilst in its care.

11 My Lady, these are matters of the most profound 12 regret, and it is hoped that victims may at least draw 13 some comfort from the knowledge that Kibble has taken, 14 and continues to take, the most robust measures to 15 ensure the welfare and safety of the young persons in 16 its care.

17 LADY SMITH: Mr Gray, thank you for that.

18 I have one question, and it may not be fair to ask 19 you this, and if you don't know the answer that's fine, 20 I can ask the Inspectorate.

21 At paragraph 15, sub-point 3, you are quoting from 22 the most recent inspection report, and there is 23 a reference to something at point 4 called 'a relational 24 approach to care'. I was just wondering what, in 25 2024/2025 speak, is understood by 'a relational

1 approach'?

2 MR GRAY: I am afraid, my Lady, that I am not in a position

3 provide an answer to that question, but I will ensure

4 that the question is addressed and answered fully, and 5 perhaps can be provided in writing.

6 LADY SMITH: Thank you.

7 I would be interested to know what Kibble think it

8 is and I will ask the Inspectorate.

9 Thank you very much, Mr Gray.

10 MR GRAY: Thank you, my Lady.

11 LADY SMITH: That, I think, Mr MacAulay, completes what we 12 were planning to have presented today, is that right?

13 MR MACAULAY: In good time, my Lady, yes.

14 LADY SMITH: In good time, yes.

15 Tomorrow we will move on to the last six

16 organisations, including providers, who are presenting

17 closing submissions, starting with Edinburgh City

18 Council.

19 I have no reason to think we won't be able to start

20 at 10 o'clock; is that right?

21 MR MACAULAY: No, I don't think there is any reason, my

22 Lady.

23 LADY SMITH: Good. Until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

24 Thank you all who were here today.
